

Olive oil

On the karst ground of our golden island for millennia are growing olives (Latin: Olea europaea), fruit tree that has fed many generations, and gastronomy gave an unforgettable taste. This long-living tree, mentioned in the Bible, is extremely valued since ancient times for its autumn fruits.

Highly valued olive oil is obtained by pressing of the fruits and is used in cooking and cosmetics.

Olive groves can be seen in our campsites orchard and the taste of our olive oil can be tested in almost all dishes of our Trattoria.
